RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

CENTER FOR ADVANCING CORRECTIONAL EXCELLENCE, GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY, Fairfax, VA

Research Faculty - Project Director, 2009-Present

RNR Simulation Tool

- Conducts research and provides training and technical assistance for the RNR (Risk-Need-Responsivity) Simulation Tool, a portal of translational tools designed to assess treatment program quality and improve treatment matching for individuals involved in the criminal justice system.
- Serves as principal investigator for RNR implementation in multiple jurisdictions.
- Regularly revises and updates tools to increase the tool's adherence to evidence-based practices and relevance to correctional and community-based programs.
- Manages several initiatives with state and local jurisdictions that use the tools, including defining data elements and outcomes of interest, preparing staff to work with providers, conducting trainings, and developing supplementary materials as needed, such as a template for short-term program improvement and an extensive list of low-cost improvements programs can implement.
- Manages inquiries from potential sites, including establishing and refining scopes of work, timelines, deliverables, and budget estimates
- Conducts in-person and web-based trainings and presentations to researchers, practitioners, and policymakers.
- Conducts site visits to agencies and programs to observe programming and make recommendations for treatment enhancements.
- Develops supporting materials for tools, such as user manual, user workbook, infographics, and SAMHSA-supported publication When Agencies Partner: Key Components of Successful Supervision and Service Agency Partnerships.
- Develops specialized content and output within the Program Tool and Assess an Individual Tool to make them more responsive to special populations, including sex offenders and individuals reentering the community post-incarceration.
- Analyzes data entered into the portals, and uses data to develop recommendations for changes to programming.

Additional Research Projects and Activities

- Developed an online case planning/management tool used by over 200 probation officers.
- Serves as principal investigator for a project developing profiles on individuals' likelihood of recidivating for a state Department of Public Safety.

- Directs SUSTAIN (formerly SOARING 2), a curriculum that integrates eLearning with coaching for probation officers and treatment providers, with the objective of increasing knowledge and use of evidence-based practices in criminal justice supervision.
- Serves as Principal Investigator for SUSTAIN implementation in multiple jurisdictions.
- Develops and revises content and supporting materials for SUSTAIN modules; provides training and technical assistance to users.
- Develops and revises articles for peer-reviewed journals and other written materials on study findings and policy implications.
- Presents study findings at research, policy, and practitioner conferences, including the College on Problems of Drug Dependency, the National Association of Drug Court Professionals annual conference, the American Society of Criminology annual meeting, the American Probation and Parole Association Annual Learning Institute, and the Addiction Health Services Research Conference.
- Develops grant applications and supporting materials.
- Manages Institutional Review Board submissions, including applications, amendments, and renewals.
- Supervises graduate students (PhD and Master's level), interns, and administrative and research staff.
- Served as Project Director for Seek, Treat, Reach to Identify Pretrial Defendants Enhancement, a single-site study funded by the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA). This study was a randomized controlled trial of medication-assisted treatment in individuals living with HIV and opioid-dependence.
- Served as Project Director for Justice Steps, a NIDA-funded implementation study that examines the use of contingency management in justice agencies in five federal districts.
- Served as Project Director for Evidence Mapping to Advance Justice Practices, a project where researchers synthesized the data in previously published meta-analyses and systematic reviews on a variety of topics related to justice and healthcare.
- Managed 2011 Addiction Health Services Research Conference, a multi-disciplinary annual conference with approximately 200 attendees from universities, agencies, think tanks, and other organizations.
- Managed Center's first symposium, "Undoing the Effects of Mass Incarceration," a public event with approximately 200 attendees.
- Led redesign and re-launch of Center website, including writing all content, managing social media, selecting topic areas for navigation, and managing photos, publications, and online tools.

CENTER FOR EVIDENCE-BASED CORRECTIONS, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA-IRVINE, Irvine, CA
 Research Specialist, 2008-2010

- Conducted quantitative and qualitative research for projects with the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR), as directed by the Division of Research.
- Provided regular briefings on research projects and policy issues to CDCR stakeholders, including the Division Directors for Research and Adult Parole Operations.
- Served as co-investigator and project manager for the Parole Violation Decision-Making Instrument (PVDMI), a multi-site pilot project for the Division of Adult Parole Operations (DAPO) utilizing a tool that makes recommendations for addressing parole violations.

- Developed interim and final analytic reports to CDCR on the process evaluation of the PVDMI. These reports included analyses of quantitative data on violations and sanctions; a review of the literature on responding to parole violations; a review of the policies and current issues facing California corrections, such as prison overcrowding and high rates of recidivism; a review of other states' policies regarding parole violations; and analyses of qualitative data from interviews and non-participant observation at DAPO events.
- Developed evaluation plans and related documents for the PVDMI process and outcomes evaluations, including blueprints, interim report templates, and key actor interview questions.
- Developed articles and presentations on the PVDMI and on development of the California Static Risk Assessment tool.
- Reviewed and directed the work of University of California doctoral students.

SAN DIEGO ASSOCIATION OF GOVERNMENTS (SANDAG), San Diego, CA
 Research Technician, 2006-2008

- Conducted quantitative and qualitative research on social science topics, concentrating in criminal justice and public health.
- Managed project with the San Diego Superior Court that involved creating data collection instruments, conducting focus groups, analyzing qualitative and quantitative data, developing a report that summarized findings and provided recommendations, and presenting the findings to Court personnel, including the Presiding Judge.
- Co-managed the Substance Abuse Monitoring project, an initiative where objective and subjective data on arrestee drug use are collected and disseminated. This project involved interviewing recent arrestees in adult and juvenile facilities, managing data collection efforts with interviewers and correctional facilities, supervising interviewers, training new interviewers, editing completed interviews, revising interview instruments, conducting quality control, preparing data for analyses, and editing reports.
- Analyzed data from a survey on the needs of individuals living with HIV in San Diego County using SPSS. This project was sponsored by the San Diego County Department of Health and Human Services and addressed needs in a number of domains, including housing, healthcare, and risky behavior.
- Provided support to Division Director and members of the Public Safety Committee, which advises the SANDAG Board of Directors on matters related to public safety.
- Managed data collection efforts for a crime in transit study, which involved training data collectors, managing data collection, revising data collection instruments, and performing quality control.
- Developed a report on the efficacy of health education courses and student/parent satisfaction with the health center of a San Diego high school. This involved analyzing surveys, pre/post tests, and behavior self-report tests.
- Analyzed behavioral survey data and developed a report on crystal methamphetamine use among men who have sex with men in San Diego County.
- Conducted focus groups soliciting opinions from individuals living with HIV on a social marketing campaign designed to encourage prevention behavior and disseminated findings.
- Conducted an exhaustive literature search on promising and exemplary practices in youth corrections and developed report to the San Diego Probation Department.

- Developed pre/post instruments to evaluate financial literacy for participants in programs sponsored by the United Way.
- Developed “CJ faxes,” brief descriptions of contemporary issues in criminal justice and public health that are distributed to stakeholders throughout San Diego County.
- Collected and analyzed data from law enforcement and criminal justice agency databases and trained coworkers to use databases.

DEVELOPMENT SERVICES GROUP, INC., Bethesda, MD

Deputy Project Director/Project Coordinator, 2004-2007

- Served as Deputy Director of Title V Training & Technical Assistance Program (Community Prevention Grants Program) for the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP), which involved coordinating training activities and revising curricula; supervised Title V Project Assistant.
- Coordinated nationwide training and technical assistance projects under the Formula Grants/State Challenge Grants contract with OJJDP. This involved working with state and local staff to determine training needs, finding appropriate consultants/subcontractors for the training, obtaining approval from OJJDP, managing subcontracts, reviewing and editing consultant reports, and maintaining Access databases containing all training/technical assistance project information.
- Analyzed data for development of performance measures to be used by Formula Grants and Title V grant recipients.
- Provided support for proposals and other business development activities.
- Assisted OJJDP with the development of trainings and conferences; prepared training materials in preparation for scheduled trainings and designed presentations for trainers.
- Analyzed data for development of performance measures to be used by Formula Grants and Title V grant recipients.
- Developed and refined materials for national Court Coordination Program, including site application, list of website and literature resources, program planning guide, and facilitation guide; drafted memos and other materials for distribution to sites and sponsoring agency staff; developed website content and layout.

TATC CONSULTING, Washington, DC/Bethesda, MD

Research Associate, 2003-2004

- Conducted research and developed reports and other products on topics related to juvenile justice and workforce development.
- Developed a report on promising practices in transitioning youth offenders from custody to their home communities for the U.S. Department of Education, Title I Programs Office. This involved conducting a literature search on current practices; conducting telephone interviews with programs that work with transitioning youth across the country; and analyzing and summarizing this research to develop recommendations.
- Conducted qualitative interviews with members of the National Institute for Metalworking Skills (NIMS) Regional Initiatives team, as well as metalworking instructors, training center administrators, and Workforce Investment Board representatives; reviewed and analyzed these data, along with quantitative data from NIMS Regional Initiatives team reports.

- Developed a report on the validation of metalworking skill sets for the U.S. Department of Labor and NIMS. This involved analyzing and summarizing qualitative data from a series of large focus groups.
- Developed evaluation report to the U.S. Department of Labor on the Senior Executive Service (SES) Candidate Development Program, which trains managers to become SES members. This involved analyzing data from candidates' evaluations of the program.
- Reviewed, analyzed, and summarized bimonthly reports submitted by Workforce Investment Board (WIB) mentor–protégé teams, comprised of mentor WIBs who were successfully operating as demand-driven entities and protégé WIBs who wished to transition from supply-driven to demand-driven; developed and wrote bimonthly reports on the activities, challenges, and accomplishments of the teams for submission to the Business Relations Group of the Employment and Training Administration.
- Developed and edited content and researched policies and administrative information for a website intended to serve as an orientation tool for new Federal Occupational Health employees.
- Provided business development support, including writing and editorial support for proposal-writing efforts and maintaining resumes, biographies, and corporate qualifications.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT ACCOUNTABILITY OFFICE (GAO), Seattle, WA
Health Care Analyst Intern, Summer 2002

- Contributed to end-stage preparation efforts for GAO Report, “Medicaid and SCHIP: Recent HHS Approvals of Demonstration Waiver Projects Raise Concern,” issued July 2002.
- Researched state Medicaid billing procedures for a future GAO Report.
- Provided summaries of interviews, meetings, conference calls, and videoconferences and wrote analytic work-papers.
- Researched regional policy issues in the northwest United States for an internal project.
